

O Light, Perpetual Fire

4. Be - hold the light of God! There is no great - er love.

The first system of the musical score is written for a four-part choir (Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass) in 4/4 time. The key signature has two flats (B-flat and E-flat). The lyrics are: "4. Be - hold the light of God! There is no great - er love." The melody is simple and homophonic, with each voice part moving in parallel motion.

What shines to-day burns bright - er still in bril - liant lands a - bove.

The second system of the musical score continues the melody from the first system. The lyrics are: "What shines to-day burns bright - er still in bril - liant lands a - bove." The musical notation is consistent with the first system, featuring a four-part choir in 4/4 time with a two-flat key signature.
